DR. R. Badmanaban, M. Pharm, Ph.D., is a distinguished figure in the field of pharmaceutical education and research. With a career spanning over 16 years, he has made significant contributions to academia and the pharmaceutical sciences. DR. R. Badmanaban's journey in the academic and research realms reflects his unwavering commitment to advancing the field.

Currently serving as a Professor and the Head of Pharmacognosy at Nirmala College of Pharmacy in Muvattupuzha, Ernakulum, Kerala, he has been an integral part of the institution since May 17, 2017. In his role, DR. R. Badmanaban imparts knowledge in subjects like Pharmacognosy & Phytopharmaceuticals to second Pharm. D students at the postgraduate level and Pharmacognosy & Phytochemistry to final-year B. Pharm students at the undergraduate level. Additionally, he actively participates in various administrative responsibilities within the institution, including his role as the Chief Coordinator for the National Board of Accreditation (NBA) for the B. Pharmacy program.

DR. R. Badmanaban's research expertise covers a wide range of areas, with a focus on the development, optimization, and standardization of mono herbal and polyherbal formulations. His proficiency extends to the development and validation of analytical methods for bulk and finished pharmaceutical products. Moreover, he has conducted preclinical studies using animal models for various pharmacological investigations, showcasing the breadth of his research contributions.

His analytical prowess includes mastery of techniques such as HPTLC (High-Performance Thin-Layer Chromatography), HPLC (High-Performance Liquid Chromatography), and UV methods for analytical method development.

Thookanaickenpalayam, Gobichettipalayam (TK), Erode (DT) - 638506, Tamil Nadu.

DR. R. Badmanaban has extensive experience in method validation, adhering to international guidelines, including ICH and WHO standards. He is also well-versed in statistical analysis and interpretation using various statistical tools.

DR. R. Badmanaban possesses advanced instrument handling capabilities, including expertise in operating high-performance liquid chromatography (HPLC) equipment, high-performance thin-layer chromatography (HPTLC) systems, and double-beam UV-visible spectrophotometers. His proficiency in utilizing these advanced instruments for pharmaceutical analysis is commendable.

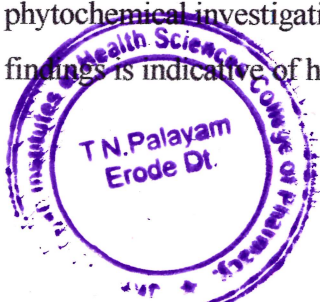

In terms of computer skills, DR. R. Badmanaban is proficient in Microsoft Office and internet usage. He also demonstrates competence in scientific research-related software, such as GraphPad Prism and Sigma Plot for statistical analysis and Chem Draw for simulating chemical structures.

His Ph.D. research project, titled "Phytochemical screening and investigation on pharmacological activity of leaf extracts of Lagenaria siceraria (mol.) stand," exemplifies his dedication to exploring the medicinal properties of natural products. This project encompassed a comprehensive study on leaf extracts of Lagenaria siceraria Mol., involving phytochemical screening, quantitative measurements, and various pharmacological investigations, including hepatoprotective potential, antitumor properties, and antimicrobial and anthelmintic activities.

In addition to his Ph.D. research, DR. R. Badmanaban has completed a noteworthy M. Pharm research project titled "Formulation Development and quality control parameter (Thailam) Medicated oil." This project entailed the formulation and quality evaluation of medicated oils, with a particular focus on chemical and biological assessments, stability testing, and studies on anti-inflammatory and wound healing activities.

Before his current position at Nirmla College of Pharmacy, DR. R. Badmanaban held various academic roles at different institutions. Notably, he served as a Professor and Head in the Pharmacognosy department at Padmavathi College of Pharmacy, Dharmapuri, Tamil Nadu, from June 15, 2015, to May 15, 2016. Prior to that, he worked as an Associate Professor and Lecturer in the Pharmacognosy department at Shri Sarvajanic Pharmacy College in North Gujarat, India. His extensive teaching experience at both undergraduate and postgraduate levels has significantly contributed to the development of pharmacy students.

In addition to his teaching and research roles, DR. R. Badmanaban has an impressive list of research publications in national and international journals, underscoring his valuable contributions to the scientific community. His research spans various facets of pharmaceutical sciences, including anti-inflammatory activity, phytochemical investigation, analytical method development, and more. His commitment to sharing his research findings is indicative of his dedication to advancing pharmaceutical knowledge.

Throughout his career, DR. R. Badmanaban has actively participated in conferences, workshops, and seminars related to pharmaceutical sciences. These engagements have not only expanded his knowledge but have also allowed him to establish connections with peers and experts in the field.

DR. R. Badmanaban has also ventured into the world of publishing, with multiple books and chapters to his name. His publications encompass a wide range of topics within pharmaceutical sciences, further solidifying his reputation as a knowledgeable and accomplished scholar.

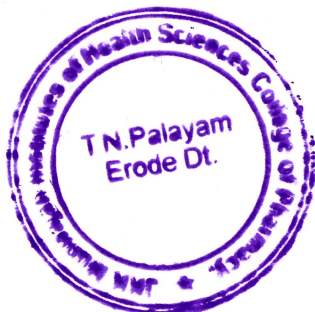

His dedication to the field of pharmacy has not gone unnoticed, as evidenced by the awards and recognitions he has received. DR. R. Badmanaban is an approved Ph.D. guide and has garnered awards for his contributions to HPTLC research articles and other academic achievements. His ability to secure research grants, including the AICTE Research Promotion Scheme Award, highlights his capability in obtaining funding for significant research endeavours.

In addition to his academic and research commitments, DR. R. Badmanaban has actively participated as a resource faculty member and coordinator for various educational and research initiatives. His contributions to organizing seminars and workshops demonstrate his commitment to the growth and development of the academic community.

DR. R. Badmanaban, M. Pharm, Ph.D., is a highly accomplished and dedicated professional in the field of pharmaceutical education and research. His extensive teaching experience, impressive research portfolio, and active involvement in academic and administrative roles make him a valuable contributor to the pharmaceutical sciences. His commitment to advancing knowledge and mentoring future pharmacists is commendable, and his impact on the field is evident through his numerous publications, awards, and research grants.

REPORT ON THE SEMINAR

Title: Awareness Programme for Human Evaluation

Date: 05/01/2023

Resource Person: DR. R. BADMANABAN, M. Pharm, Ph. D.,

Event Coordinator: Mr. K. Gobinath, M. Pharm.,

Total Participant(s): 95

Description of the program:

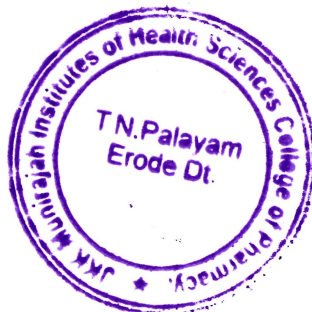

The "Awareness Programme for Human Evaluation" event, which unfolded on 05/01/2023, marked a significant milestone in fostering awareness and understanding of human evaluation processes. This enlightening program brought together individuals dedicated to enhancing their knowledge of this crucial field. Attendees, eager to explore human evaluation methodologies, benefited from a comprehensive program led by knowledgeable experts.

Program Outcome:

The program achieved several notable outcomes. Participants left with a heightened understanding of human evaluation processes and their significance across various disciplines. The insights shared by expert instructors provided practical guidance on improving evaluation methodologies and practices. Furthermore, the program served as a platform for networking and collaboration, facilitating connections that may lead to future advancements in the field of human evaluation. In summary, the "Awareness Programme for Human Evaluation" left an enduring impact, equipping attendees with the knowledge and motivation to contribute meaningfully to the improvement of human evaluation processes.
